

More than just a moment in time...

Exploring the long-term consequences of childhood acquired brain injury

Providing educational service for young people with acquired brain injuries (ABI)

One Day Annual Conference
Monday 8th November 2010; 9am-5pm
East Midlands Conference Centre, Nottingham

Trust-Ed's next one day conference will explore the often unrecognised, long-term consequences of an acquired brain injury sustained during childhood or adolescence.

The conference will be chaired by Dr Ron Savage from the US, internationally known for his work with young people with ABI.

An excellent programme of highly acclaimed international speakers will include:

Dr Michael Collins

Sports concussion clinician and researcher, Pittsburgh Medical Center

Professor Huw Williams

Co-Director of the Centre for clinical Neuropsychology Research, Exeter University

Dr Rob Forsyth

Senior Lecturer and Consultant Paediatric Neurologist, Royal Victoria Infirmary and Newcastle University

Dr Tom Beattie

Consultant in Emergency Medicine, Royal Hospital for Sick Children, Edinburgh

Dr Ruth Kent

Consultant and Senior Lecturer in Neurological Rehabilitation, Pinderfields Hospital, Wakefield.

Topics will include: Childhood ABI and future offending behaviour; the usual and unusual presentations of post-traumatic epilepsy; the significance of acute medical care on long-term outcomes; the effects of childhood ABI on future employment and independent living prospects; and also the future effects of mild traumatic brain injuries and sports' concussions.

There will also be contributions by young people with ABI and their family members

What is Trust-Ed?

We are a charitable organisation with a vision to improve the lives of young people with acquired brain injuries (ABI) and their families. We aim to promote understanding and awareness of the long-term education needs of children and young people with ABI, to disseminate information, to promote expertise in addressing these needs; and to provide specialist short and long-term education and assessment for students with ABI.

All profits received from this conference will be used to further these aims. Please support us. Thank you.
Trust-Ed ABI Services is registered with Charities Commission. Charity Registration Number 1119827
